DEAR SHAREHOLDER:

The past year was very much like 2020, in that financially your Company had another outstanding year. Unfortunately, like 2020, our performance was overshadowed by continued pandemic-induced stress, as well as tragedy for our team. Oxford, our headquarters' community, suffered a terrible tragedy with the attack in our schools, which directly impacted many of our own team members' families. On a professional level, the difficulty in finding new team members and having more people out with COVID caused many of our teams to be thinly staffed while busier than we have ever been with adding new relationships.

And despite all of that, our team, as they did in 2020, once again proved why they are one of the best in the business. Besides the outstanding financial results, our team's immediate and comprehensive response to the school tragedy included staffing/supplying the community's candlelight vigil and setting up a victims' fund with our community partners. The fund raised almost $1.6 million and amply demonstrated how we all care very much about helping people at our core. In fact, our team's resilience, engagement and adaptability in the face of everchanging headwinds is why your Board of Directors believes we have such a bright future. We are gratified that our long-term core strategy of developing a valuable team will continue to create value for stakeholders in the future.

As noted in our fourth-quarter press release, our 2022 earnings will be lower than 2021 because of the decline in PPP income and margin compression. Our plan to return to superior earnings growth is to build on the significant growth of new loan and deposit relationships from the PPP while pursuing several growth initiatives. To that end, our most significant tactic is entering the commercial finance business, which includes collateral-intensive lending, general working capital and equipment financing. This initiative makes sense for us solely because we were able to recruit experienced leaders with long, successful performance records in this business. They are the reason we believe the Company will produce strong returns, because of their discipline in risk management and how they embody our entrepreneurial spirit. Besides the outstanding returns, the commercial finance business is countercyclical, will improve geographical diversity due to the need to originate nationally and will allow us to serve more small businesses in our local communities with a true "one-stop shop" model. In 2022, we are focusing on the working capital segment — factoring and asset-based lending — with the acquisition of a small factoring company while starting to build other segments like leasing and alternative energy.

In the conventional business, we are expanding in the Ann Arbor/Washtenaw County market for the same reason as commercial finance — because we could recruit a superior leader with a lifetime of experience and success in an attractive market. We are also opening an LPO in Macomb County, which is important to expand our Metro footprint and small business growth. These initiatives will negatively impact 2022 earnings, although expected to be accretive in 2023.

Early in 2022, we completed a private placement of OXBC stock, some of it to our new Oxford Commercial Finance executive team or important influencers in that space, which bolstered our capital position to undertake the growth planned. With the aforementioned private placement and the sub-debt issued in Q3, the Bank's Tier One Leverage ratio is over 10%. As a result, we have retained additional capital at the Company to support further growth. In addition, we are still interested in repurchasing shares, although, like many things, this could change.

Thank you for your continuing commitment as an owner, and hopefully a customer, of Oxford Bank Corporation.

David P. Lamb
President, Chief Executive Officer
